

TIWAHE FOUNDATION

Renewing Individuals, Family, Community

HEARTBEAT OF OUR COMMUNITY

Strengthening leadership, culture, values and vision

Annual Report 2011

DEAR FRIENDS

AND SUPPORTERS OF TIWAHE FOUNDATION

Many of you have followed us on our long journey toward independence. Over the past decade, our financial supporters the Grotto Foundation, the Marbrook Foundation and the Westcliff Foundation have provided the necessary support to undertake the research and planning to become an independent foundation.

It is fitting that American Indian Family Empowerment Program Fund (AIFEP) grantee Joseph Erler and his drum group, Red Tree, were chosen to be featured in our 2011 annual report. The drum is the heartbeat of our nation. The drum circle helps us to listen to our inner self, connect with nature and bring the community together for prayer, honoring and celebration.

We hope to represent the healthy heartbeat of the American Indian community as we create our vision for the future; 2011 was a foundational year for the Tiwahe Foundation's own future. We accomplished many tasks necessary to be a stand-alone foundation.

- ★ We raised over $100,000 from individuals, most of whom are American Indian.
- ★ We received an Endowment Challenge matching grant of $200,000 from the Saint Paul and F.R. Bigelow Foundations.
- ★ We obtained more than $130,000 in operating support from the F.R. Bigelow, Saint Paul and Minneapolis Foundations.
- ★ We developed key relationships with Northwest Area Foundation, Blandin Foundation, Bush Foundation, Headwaters Foundation and Native Americans in Philanthropy to support our leadership initiatives.
- ★ Tiwahe Foundation implemented our brand and web site, which connects us to our culture, relationship with nature and our mission to be a resource for giving and strengthening American Indian communities by building capacity through leadership, culture, values and vision.

As you will see by reviewing our financial statement on page 3, the base we built for the Tiwahe Foundation in 2011 is strong. We are grateful to our board members and endowment committee members who have provided essential leadership during the past few formative years.

With 2012 almost behind us, we look forward to sharing with you additional successes that have been instrumental in our growth and path toward independence.

DRUM GROUPS ARE PART OF OUR WAY OF LIFE

American Indian Family Empowerment Program Fund (AIFEP) recipient Joseph Erler tells his story about making a request for an AIFEP grant to fund a CD of music created by his drum group: “Producing a CD is something we’ve always wanted to do. This was a good learning experience.

“Our drum group is our way of life. We sing at Sun Dances. I currently live in Redwood Falls. Our band gets the Lower Sioux Community’s name out, which they appreciate. They also like having a drum group for funerals, graduations, ceremonies for the tribal council and so on. It brings pride to the community.

“Tiwahe has helped us a lot. Our CD has served more than one purpose. It’s a way to share our music, and the sales of the CD have paid for food and gas to get to powwows and other performances. The CD also features memorial songs for buddies of ours who passed away. We gave CDs to their families. It’s healing medicine.”
